

Stance.

Every great golf shot begins with solid footing. Reliable homeowners insurance depends on it. Our solid footing comes from responsible underwriting, responsible business practices and responsible pricing—even when it's not the most popular thing to do.

Protecting families and their valuables is an enormous responsibility. Because we understand that a Category 5 Hurricane isn't the scariest thing that could hit Florida. Even more devastating is an insolvent carrier that can't keep its promises to its policyholders because of underpriced policies and inadequate reinsurance.

Responsible underwriting, backed by more than 35 years of personal lines experience, is the foundation of our financial strength and stability. So while other carriers may come and go, Universal North America is here for the long haul offering sensible rates, competitive commissions and consummate customer service.
